St. Mary's School

THE SEASON OF TH whether manufacturing, commercial trafficking. They all make their money robbing the poor man, levying contribu-tions upon him and putting it in their own pockets. They subserve a good end, it in their fust as gambling does. They keep people poor—the greatest blessing in the world, for without poor the flowers would cause to bloom, and the isnd would be cove with weeds. Who would decorate the palaces of the rich, build their churches, gild their gaudy pews, make gowns for the preachers and black his boots? The value of the poor is not sufficiently un-derstood by that stupid class of people— the respectable and educated. They keep

Louis loses $2,000,000 to $3,000,000 annually by suppressing gaming, while Chicago and other cities are correspondingly benefitted. The loss to merchant tailors is mournfully expatiated upon. It is a valuable addition to what is known of political economy and social science. Every thing has two sides to it.
